W. P. OLDHAM & CO.

The Diocesan Convention of Tennessee unanimously elected the Rev. Thomas F. Gallor, of Sevenside, to be Assistant Bishop of the Episcopal church in Tennessee.

Mrs. Almira Hancock, the widow of Gen. Winfield Scott Hancock, died after a lingering illness of many months at the home of her niece in Gramercy Park, New York, Thursday.

The business portion of Water Valley, in Graves county, Ky., a few miles from Fulton, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. Three hundred persons lived in the village and many were rendered homeless.

Fourteen laborers engaged in repairing the tunnel leading from the crib in the lake at Milwaukee met a terrible fate Thursday. The house on the crib was swept away, and the slight compartment in which they were flooded.

Mayor Carter, Harrison, of Chicago much to the surprise of the gambling fraternity, issued an order Wednesday night closing all gambling-houses and poolrooms, and the order was at once carried out by the police. What Carter means by such a proceeding the gamblers can't make out.

At the annual meeting of the New York Central and Hudson River stockholders at Albany, N. Y., about $55,000,000 of stocks was represented. The old Board of Directors was re-elected, except that Samuel O. Babcock was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Cyrus W. Field.

Mr. Walter Chenaunt has been appointed a member of the Advisory Council on Farm and Cereal Industry by the World's Congress Auxiliary of the Columbian Exposition. The Congress convenes at Chicago, October 19, 1893. Application for letters of introduction should be addressed to Mr. Chenaunt at the earliest possible date.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CREDIT

Will Be Maintained—Mr. Secretary Carlisle Makes a Important Statement of His Policy.

The Secretary Evidently Does not Propose to be Bulldozed By Wall Street.

Secretary Carlisle made the following statement regarding the financial situation:

"In the exercise of the discretionary powers conferred upon the Secretary of the Treasury by the act of July 14, 1890, he has been paying gold for the coin Treasury notes issued for the purchase of silver bullion, and he will continue to do so as long as he has gold lawfully available for the purpose. Under this process the Government has been and is now paying gold for silver bullion and storing the silver in its vaults, where it is as useless for any purpose for circulation and redemption as iron, lead or any other commodity.

"The Government, in the first place issues a coin Treasury note in payment for silver bullion, and then the coin Treasury note is presented at a sub-Treasury and the gold is paid out for it; so that the effect is precisely the same as if the gold were paid directly for the silver in the first instance. About $800,000 of the gold which was withdrawn from the sub-Treasury on last Tuesday for shipment abroad was paid out on these coin Treasury notes. No order has been made to stop the payment of gold upon these notes; nor has any one been authorized to say that such an order would be issued.

"The purpose of the Government to preserve its own credit unimpaired and maintain the parity of the two metals by all lawful means will not be abandoned under any circumstances. The view of the existing legislation, the only question for consideration is as to the measures that ought to be adopted to insure the accomplishment of these purposes, and upon this question there is, of course room for wide differences of opinion.

"The total stock of gold coin and gold bullion now in this country, including what is held by the Treasury as well as what is held by the banks and individuals, amounts to about $740,000,000. When I came into the Treasury Department on the 7th day of March, the amount of free gold on hand had been reduced to $987,000, but by arrangements with Western banks it was increased until, on the 1st of April, it amounted to nearly $3,000,000. Then heavy shipments began to be made, and two days ago we had only about $400,000, but now it amounts to $885,000, after deducting what has been withdrawn from the sub-Treasury to-day for shipment.

"Arrangements are now in progress by which more gold is to be procured from the West, and it is hoped that a sufficient quantity will be secured to keep the gold reserve intact. There is gold enough in the country to meet all the requirements of the situation, and if all who are really interested to maintain a sound and stable currency would assist the Secretary of the Treasury to the extent of their liabilities, the existing difficulties would soon be removed."

In addition to this statement Secretary Carlisle said that $800,000 in gold had been taken out of the sub-Treasury in New York to-day for export. The class of money paid into the sub-Treasury for the gold withdrawal included $400,000, in gold certificates, which to this amount did not reduce the gold reserve, because they themselves were practically gold. So the actual gold reduction of the day was only $400,000, leaving the balance as stated above. This is the first considerable amount of gold certificates paid into the sub-Treasury for gold export for many years, and encourages Treasury officials to hope that the banks, seeing the situation, will continue to present gold certificates in part payment at least for gold withdrawn for export.

CERRO GORDO.

To-day and yesterday are the anniversaries of the battle of Cerro Gordo, which was fought just forty-six years ago. It was a two-day's conflict. So far as known there are but three men now living in the State of Kentucky who were in the fight, and these are Capt. J. H. Crawford, of the city, and Gen. S. B. Buckner, and Don Carlos Buell. Capt. Crawford was in the Second Infantry, Gen. Buell in the Third and Gen. Buckner in the Sixth.—(Louisville Commercial April 18.)

What about Gen. John S. Williams, of this county. If our memory does not play us false, he was around there about that time. "Old Cerro Gordo" was there some, you bet. He commanded a company in the Fourth Kentucky that left the bones of 17 of its gallant members to bleach on the plains of Mexico.

Derailed by a Grab Hook.

A peculiar railroad accident happened at Cerro West Va. on Thursday. A dummy engine with cars, attached was making its trip from Huntington to Kenwood and a large derrick which was being used in unloading the material for the bridge across Twelve Pole Creek had been left standing near the track in condition for use and the boom pole, which carried a large iron hook to be attached to the load to be raised, had swung around so as to place the hook immediately over the track, and as the dummy came backing down, the hook caught the first car, lifting it slightly from the track and as the pole turned the car was lifted from the bridge and lurched to the foot of the first pier, a distance of twenty feet, crushing one of the coaches into splinters. The front coach fell bottom upward, and the trucks are about all that is left above ground. The other car also fell over and was badly used up. Conductor Jas. McCleary was killed and thirteen passengers were injured, some fatally.

Rev. Thomas F. Gallor was elected Assistant Bishop of the diocese of Tennessee in the Episcopal Diocesan Convention Thursday.

GEO. C. EVERETTE

Receives Congressman's Endorsement for Postmaster of Mt. Sterling.

A Democrat Will in the Immediate Future Displace the Present Republican Incumbent.

Get a Move on Yourself, Brother Johnnie!

On Saturday afternoon Mr. Geo. C. Everett, one of the several good Democrats who have been applying for the Mt. Sterling Postmastership, received a telegram from Congressman M. C. Lile saying that he had given to him his endorsement for Postmaster here.

The other applicants, so far as we have heard, yield gracefully to the inevitable and are tendering to Mr. Everett their congratulations on the victory.

There were a number of good men applying, any one of whom would have made us an acceptable Postmaster, but they could not all get this plum, and now that Mr. Lile has announced his decision, each one wants to see Mr. Everett installed as soon as possible.

The good humored manner in which the defeated ones are receiving their quietus is winning for them the most hearty approval from every one. We hope each one of them will get something better than the Post office. Now that Mr. Everett has received the endorsement we hope the case against Mr. Wood, the Republican hold-over, will be pushed with vigor. There are many reasons why Mr. Wood should be made to vacate, and let them be urged till the good Democrat who has been endorsed shall have charge of the affairs of the office.

Pack your collar-box, Brother Johnnie!

A large tobacco barn belonging to Thos. Whaley, near Sharpburg, containing 18,000 lbs. of tobacco, was burned on Saturday night. Besides the tobacco there were sixty bbls. of corn, eight head of mules, two head of horses and a big lot of valuable farming implements. The tobacco was sold and to be delivered at 95 cents. There was only $600 insurance on the barn, which was valued at $1,000. The loss falls heavy on Mr. Whaley. The fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin.

A carload of agricultural products left Lexington Thursday for the World's Fair. The contents of this car have been gathered from all parts of the Bluegrass, and consist of thirty-five varieties of wheat and twenty varieties of oats, furnished by the State A and M. College; forty specimens of hemp, a quantity of bluegrass four feet high, grain and seed of all kinds, different varieties of tobacco, etc. A car containing historical exhibits and mementoes to be placed in the Kentucky building will leave in a few days, also the live stock and mineral exhibits will be shipped next week.

FOR STATE SENATOR.

We are authorized to announce that J. P. Gay, of Clark county, as a candidate for Senator of this district composed of the counties of Clark, Bourbon and Montgomery, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Col. J. H. Holloway, of Clark county, is a candidate for State Senator from the district composed of Bourbon, Clark and Montgomery counties, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Your vote and influence respectfully solicited.

Charges of obnoxious parsimony have been preferred against Postmaster Hampton, of Winchester. Proof is said to be abundant and convincing, and if this is so, he will have to pack his collar box, also. Get out, you rascals!

A scheme is now on foot to pipe natural gas to the junction of Main and Mayfield streets, erect a pipe above the horse tops, and allow it to burn day and night. Mr. Sterling needs only to be advertised and we know of no better method than this.

Congressman Lisle has been informed that the present Postmaster of Mt. Sterling will of his own accord resign July 1, 1893. If so, there will be no compromise agreement. The gun is loaded for Brother Johnnie, and he must get it moved or be moved.

That "wise and patriotic measure," the Force Bill. Had the editor of the Gazette, "whose name appears at the head of its columns," who was and is responsible for its utterances, never penned those obnoxious expressions, he might have been able to live off the Government a while longer. He has made his own record, and will be forced to let go the 28th.

Gov. Brown vetoed the proposed charter for cities of the first-class. He gave his reasons for so doing in a plain straightforward statement. This action on his part has aroused the ire of some Louisville politicians, but his action will probably amount to nothing as a reported bill of the Senate does not seem to indicate much hope for passage of the act over the Governor's veto.

Turn The Rascals Out Assistant Attorney General Colby has forwarded to Prof. Mark Harrington, the Chief of the Weather Bureau, the formulated charges against him and other officials of the Bureau for alleged malfeasance in office. The Secretary of Agriculture has requested the resignation of Mr. S. S. Rockwood, Assistant Chief of the Weather Bureau, and the resignation has been tendered and accepted.

At the meeting of the Reformed Churches, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a letter from Rev. Mr. Bonneschweiller was read, in which he declared that he had become convinced that the ministry was more of a business venture than a work for God. His pastorate is at Dolgeville, N. Y., and the letter was a resignation. He stated that he still believed in Christ as the savior of mankind. He hoped that the brethren would quietly and honorably drop him. His request was complied with.

The case of J. H. Walker against Mary Cooper, came up before Judge Cooper last week. Walker had demanded that that part of the county's answer in which they set up an arbitration as an agreed settlement. Motion was argued by Senator William Lindsay, of Frankfort, for Walker, and Col. H. L. Stoue, of Louisville, for county, and was sustained. The county then amended its answer as to arbitration, by stating additional facts. The Plaintiffs insisted on their motion to dismiss the answer as amended and it was overruled. The effect of this court ruling is virtually this: If defendants prove their statements, Mr. Walker will be required to stand by decision of the arbitrators.

Dead, on Monday morning, the 24 inst., George W., the infant son of Milford and Carrie Carr, aged three months. He had been sick two weeks with measles and seemed to be improving. Sunday he was brighter than usual and at 12 o'clock at night was very bright. At 3 o'clock the watchful parents got up again to look after him and found him in his cradle dead, his body very warm. A sweet little angel babe, he was. Love of father and mother had entwined about, but God loved him more. For the dear parents then are now sorrowing for God and heaven. Funeral services were held at a residence last afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, by noon, E. E. Bomar and the little body was away in Macphail Cemetery.

NATURAL GAS.

A Strong and Steady Flow.

Distance of 350 Feet.

Its Capacity is Not Less Than 400,000 Feet Per Day.

Other Wells to Be Bored at Once.

On last Friday evening, the Mt. Sterling Natural Gas and Oil Company, in a well which was being sunk on the McCormick and Burton Plowing mill lot, on Queen Street, struck a very strong vein of gas. The company is delighted with the outlook and think with a few more additional wells, they will have far more than sufficient to supply the city with light and fuel. The large plowing mill of McCormick and Burton will make arrangements at once to use it. Plans for other manufacturing companies, as well as other manufacturing companies, will follow. The company will not stop at this, but will sink other wells. Several other machines, it is thought, will be brought here and wells at different points will be going down at the same time. This is the second well and both of them were a success. This demonstrates the fact that there is an abundance of gas here, all that can be utilized. The company will begin at once to sink another well out at the near the Clinch Mill.

From the find of Friday, pipes have been run up at least a hundred feet and a double blaze illuminates all that part of the city. Mt. Sterling will now begin to realize what she has been enjoying the past years by anticipation. The company is negotiating with Winchester and other neighboring cities and towns to furnish them gas.

Take Notice.

All accounts which have been due me for more than twelve months will be sold at the expiration of twenty days, if not settled within that time.

Yesterday's Blaze.

The frame residence of H. H. Hatton, on the Grassy Lick pike, near the city limits, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire originated from a defective flue and the loss was total. It was caused by the negligence of the owner, who had allowed the flue to become so hot that the flames were well under headway before the alarm was sounded, and by the time the fire department could respond it was too late to save anything. Little of value was saved in the way of household goods. The house which was worth $2,000 was uninsured.

DEATHS.

On last Thursday afternoon, at the home of her husband, Col. Thomas Turner, West Main Street, of pulmonary trouble, after many years of patient suffering, Mrs. Henrietta Turner aged 58 years. Funeral service was held at the church of her choice of which she had been a faithful member for years, (Ascension Episcopal), conducted by Rev. E. V. Evans Saturday afternoon, and her body was laid to rest in Macphail Cemetery. She was a daughter of Col. Benjamin Robertson and was married to Col. Turner December 31, 1856. Her husband and one stepdaughter, Miss Mamie, and eight children survive her; Benjamin R. Squire, C. Cyrus, Joe R. Thomas Jr., William S. Jr., Henri Catlett and Emily K. It was her request that her seven sons bear her remains to the grave. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Sallie R. Morrow, of Paducah, and two brothers, B. J. Robertson, of Cincinnati, and Joseph L. Robertson, of New York.

Mrs. Kate T. Hayden, of Louisville, sister of Col. Turner, Miss Kate Everett, of Mayville, Miss Henrietta Lockhart, of Paris, Mrs. C. M. Slocum of Louisville, and Mrs. R. H. Fitzgibbon, of Lexington, attended her funeral. Mrs. Turner was one of our best and sweetest women. Though an invalid for years, life contending with the dread monster, cheerful by nature, she never wanted for an affectionate smile and kind word for husband, children and friends, and hers was truly a sweet home. Her stepdaughter knew her only as mother and alike with her own children bore her the deepest and most tender love. Mother was always remembered by them and her great heart beat in sympathy and love for them. To her neighbors, kind and true and to her church devoted, with a hearty perfect accord with every good work. To her husband in life's varied changes, she was the true wife, affectionate and sympathetic and a support and comfort in all his trials. Everything was done that could be to stay the disease, but every effort brought but little hope, and after a trip to Florida last winter, where her loved ones hoped she would be healed, she returned to her home, where she would be ministered to by loving hands, to await the hour of dissolution. To portray the beautiful life and character of this good woman by words would be a futile effort. Those who knew her best loved her most.

"Best-wishes, Christian, may thy grave beneath the winnowed! Thy form mine mingle with the dust 'Tis spirit-like with dust." "We have her in eternal bliss. Children, lift up your tear wet eyes. And follow in the narrowest aisle. To join your mother in the skies!" "Faithful's garden souls at 39-2t T. G. Julian's.

Kentucky Post Masters.

From all reports the President does not seem to be in any hurry about filling the offices in Kentucky. It was on the 18th of March that the good work of dissolving Republican postmasters and appointing Democrats to succeed them commenced, and since that time including to-day, 2,703 fourth-class postmasters have been appointed. Of this large number Kentucky got 214, not including the appointment of four Presidential postmasters. On the 4th of March, when the Harrison Administration went out and the Cleveland Administration came in the total number of post-offices in Kentucky was 2,520. At the present rate of appointment for the Bluegrass State all the postoffices in the State ought to be in good Democratic hands within the next two years, and if Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Maxwell is permitted to continue his work without interruption the Democrats seeking the postoffices will have no cause to complain. THE ADVOCATE.

BUCK BLACKWELL

Want's to be Postmaster of Durham.

Some misinformed persons may think journalism sometimes takes on a lurid hue in this section. To show these misinformed ones how little they know of what is being done in this line in other parts of the country, we take the following from the Washington Post. The extracts made from the Durham Globe will give a slight idea how they do things in the old North State:

The Post is not disposed to participate in any of the numerous controversies which will naturally result from the Mad and Indecent rush for Spoils, but, like the administrative rules governing appointments, there will be occasional exceptions, and one of this kind has developed robust proportions in the enterprising town of Durham, N. C. We refer to the case of Mr. Buck Blackwell. We learn from the esteemed Durham Globe that Mr. Blackwell has decided to become a candidate for the Durham post-office, and from the same authority we are able to infer that Mr. Blackwell has enemies, who are seeking to strew his political pathway with thorns and barbed wire.

In alluding to the Durham situation the Globe makes use of the following conservative language:

"We hear it stated that the ghosts, vultures, and vampires who, with nothing to recommend them but their impudence, audacity and money, which they have stolen from friends, have sent statements to Washington in which the character and reputation of Col. Buck Blackwell are impugned and maligned."

After becoming possessed of this information the editor of the Globe volunteers this suggestion:

It may be true that in his book of Life Buck Blackwell has written some pages which cannot be indorsed, yet pages which he would not write again, and we say the hell-picked and slimy scum of scoundrelism that would exult from the coffin like the skeletons which might have been misfortunes and rattle the dried and almost decayed bones in the face of his friends, would not step to rob the grave of any decency or any buried honor."

This is strong language, but it appears to be warranted.

The Durham vampires who have taken such liberties with the coffin-lid of Mr. Buck Blackwell's past are not in a position to ask or expect sympathy. On the contrary, they have invited and will receive the contempt of all who frown on political vandalism in all of its chaotic forms. With the Globe the Post is constrained to believe that the assassins of Buck are somewhat shell-shocked themselves.

For instance:

"The slimy snakes of to-day in the meshes of their malignity against poor Buck Blackwell," seem, it appears, to forget that they are not invulnerable. In their inhuman and god-forsaken glee to gloat over the failures of another, happening years ago, they forget to remember that if they were raked with a fine-tooth comb and the combined product condensed into the form of one man, there would not be such a miserable miscreant as the scamp and scallawag who has gone into the grave and become a character despoiler instead of a body-snatcher.

Who is there who will dare dispute this proposition?

In conclusion our plain-spoken contemporary huris this merited bomb at the heads of the defamers of Col. Blackwell:

"If the citizens of Durham allow some lame duck and arid ass to take the place of which, for a dozen reasons, belong to old Buck Blackwell, then the Globe wants to say that gratitude and justice are not given here. Every man, woman and child who knows Buck Blackwell and the history of Durham should rush to sign the petition which is now being circulated."

With all due respect to the other gentlemen who think they have claims on the administration, and who desire to serve the country in the Durham post-office. The Post is quite free to announce that its sympathies are with Buck Blackwell. Let the President bestow this deserved honor on Buck and the act will undoubtedly have a wholesome effect. With Blackwell in the post-office perhaps the vampires and vultures of Durham will refrain from monkeying with the coffin-lids of the past and devote their time and talents to the nursing bottles of the future.

THE ADVOCATE.

Milk should be aired after milking. Nothing is better than a clover sod for corn.

Spring is a better time to set trees than in the fall.

A gallon of cream should make two pounds of butter.

The work horse should be carried at least twice a day.

Lack of cleanliness is frequently the cause of loss in milk.

The better the drainage everything else equal, the better the crop.

It is just as important on the farm to know when as how to do any kind of work.

If a poor job is made plowing the deep the first time, the weeds are nearly certain to get ahead.

It costs more to put the scrub on the market than the grade, and the former also brings a much less price.

The orchard should have shallow cultivation. It does not pay to destroy the surface roots of the fruit trees.

Don't sign a paper for strangers. The country is full of shavers, and if they can get your signatures they will give you trouble.

Get the "drop" on weeds if possible. By having the ground finely pulverized it is much easier to get the start of the weeds.

It will pay farmers to confer with each other in regard to farming. Every farmer knows something that would be of benefit to others.

The Ohio experiment station claims that the profit from spraying fruit often exceeds $20 per acre, and for vineyards it saves much more.

For the prevention of leaf blight on apples, use a California horticulturist advises using Bordeaux mixture as soon as the leaves are full grown.

The amount of butter shipped from Denmark to England in 1892, was 96,714,404 pounds, valued at $24,233,675, against 74,904,082 pounds in 1887.

Plums are highly recommended as a valuable top dressing for pastures. An exchange says that 25 bushels of ashes per acre will produce a good growth of feed for eight or ten years.

A farmer should put as much system and brains in his work as a banker does in his. It requires a much greater range of knowledge to farm successfully than to run a bank.

The roots of trees extend as far out as the limbs. It is not necessary therefore to put all the manure close to the base of the tree. Care should be taken in cultivating the orchard, not to cut up the roots.

At a recent meeting of Texas vine growers a member said: I have seen nine years old and a boar of pigs I ever had. I would never feed a sow under 9 months, and never get her until the gilt me. I believe in in-breeding, but line breeding should be closely followed.

The statisticians tell us that the world has a surplus of 55,000,000 bushels of wheat, and that crop failure of 500,000 bushels anywhere, unaccompanied by an equivalent increase elsewhere, would bring consumption level with production, and would leave us near an approach to famine.

Modern transportation facilities have made it possible to ship a considerable number of Chinese laborers to farming on Long Island where they grow vegetables much as home gardeners do in the flower garden. They are very saving, and high not taking advantage of all modern methods for making work, their patient industry is giving success in this as it has in other directions.

The Massachusetts Ploughman says probably the time is not far distant when the spraying of orchards done for the small orchardist, threatening of grain is done for the farmer, by men who travel from place to place with an outfit of work by the place; but there are difficulties in the way of this method among which is the mooning of the remedy at the right time when needed.

When it is time to remove the mulching from the strawberry plants, it will pay to do it by hand labor, just uncovering the crown of the plant and brushing the mulch away from the roots as possible, in order that it may help to keep the roots moist, the weeds down, and the fruit up out of the dirt. After picking time, it will do no harm to set the mulch on fire and burn it off. The plants will stand the burning, or their roots will. But the insects that are among them will not.

Trees which grow very erect and spread but little, like the Porter and some others, will not more than cover the ground when well grown if put at 30 or 35 feet apart. One authority advises setting at 21 feet apart, and when the limbs begin to meet cut away the poorest, but we do not like that plan; would prefer the greater distance, and grow peaches, plums, etc., in the intermediate spaces until obliged to cut them down, if desiring to use the land to its utmost capacity.

It would be better to set trees of one variety in a row by themselves, the longest way of the field, and make the distance between the rows and between the trees in the row depend upon the known habits of growth. Spreading trees, like the Greening, Hubbardston and others, should be 45 feet apart on strong land, and seldom less than 40 feet. Baldwin and Spies can be at 40 feet apart, and at 35 feet if a little plain is taken to keep them headed in at the ends of the branches.

As quince trees do well at a distance of eight or ten feet apart, even as standards, it admits of having from 435 to 680 trees per acre. A half-bushel to a tree is not a very large yield after they are well grown, if they have been taken care of, and they usually sell readily at $2 or more per bushel. This looks like a very little little income from an acre, for a crop that requires but little labor, and that is more surely produced every year after it attains sufficient size. It likes a rich and rather deep soil, but not wet and cold.

We repeat the suggestion now that we have made before, that in the vicinity of village gardens and small orchards it would pay much more to study up the business of spraying both trees and garden crops, and procure the necessary apparatus and materials and make a business of spraying at a certain price per hour or per tree. There are many who would not object to pay the price for the job, and a liberal price, who would find it too much trouble and expense to do all this upon a small orchard or a village household. If one intended to do this it is about time that he made ready and allowed his neighbors to know his intentions and the benefit of spraying.—Ex.

Cattle Breeding.

It is time now to lay plans for the season's cattle breeding, and to take measures to save the present half crop. Let every farmer honestly and candidly consider the question of the future steer. A beef steer is not produced in a few months. It takes three years of the best management to put a beef on the butcher's block, or four to five years of common management to do it. What will be the result of the breeding of this year.

No man can forecast the market of the future of course. But of this there is an absolute certainty, men will eat meat in four years from now and will pay fair prices for a good article of food. So long as this condition continues good cattle will be good property.

The loss in the cattle business, whenever there has been loss, has been due to the poor quality of the produce. A good, thrifty steer never lost money to any man. Three-fourths of all the cattle produced are inferior quality, however. There is an incredible number of inferior cattle sent to the market. Here is where the loss in cattle occur. This is the stock that never made money for the breeder and never will. Its production is as fatal to the profits of the farm as fire. A man had just as well burn his crop as to feed it to unthrifty stock.

The thing to do is to breed cattle and good ones. Get cows that will produce good stock. Breed them to good, pure bred bulls of a meat producing character. The results are as certain to be satisfactory and profitable as we are sure of sun and rain. The time to do this thing is this year. —Stockman and Cultivator.

Popular Science.

The curvature of the earth is eight inches per mile.

Scales are now made that will weigh the flame of a candle or the smallest hair plucked from the eyebrow.

It would take 1,300,000 earths to make a globe the size of the sun. The density of the sun is only about one-fourth that of the earth.

A bell that could be heard 35,000 feet in water could be heard only 656 feet in the open air. Dogs barking on the earth can be heard by balloons at a height of four miles.

Different points upon the surface of the earth revolve with different velocities. At the poles the speed of rotation is nothing, but at the equator it is greatest, or over 1,000,000 miles per hour.

Where the sun's attractive force upon the earth replaced by the largest steel telegraph wire, it would require nine wires for each square inch of the sunward side of our globe to hold the earth in its orbit.

Plies, while in all respects excepting their eyes, which were red, were found in an old mine recently re-opened in a Bangor, Cal. The insects, upon being exposed to the light under glass, regained their lost color.

Tobacco smoke is said to be an excellent substitute for alcohol as a means of preserving insects and reptiles from decay. The specimen is placed in a bottle, which, being filled full of tobacco smoke, is tightly sealed.

The tides are caused by a great wave, which, raised by the moon's attraction, follows her in her course around the earth. The sun does somewhat in producing this effect, but, as the moon is 400 times nearer the earth, her influence is far greater.

The life of trees is determined very largely by climate. Actual experiment has shown that the English oak, for instance, matures, and consequently dies sooner in the United States than in England. The life of one of these trees across the water is estimated to be a thousand years, and in America but a 300.

Beautiful Thoughts.

When the sun rose this morning it found the world here. It did not make the world. It did not fling forth on its earliest ray this solid globe, which was not and would not have been but for the sun's rising. What did it do? It found the world in darkness, unbridled, heavy and asleep, with powers all wrapped up in slumber, with life that was hardly better or more alive than death. The sun found this great sleeping world, and woke it. It bade it be itself.—Bishop Brooks.

Who will understand that to be is better than to have, and that in truth a man is wiser only what he is? who will believe that the kingdom of this world, not less than the kingdom of heaven, lies within? we love knowledge for itself—for it is good, it is godlike to know. Do you love virtue for its own sake?—for it is eternally and absolutely right to be virtuous.—Bishop Spalding.

We seek sympathy with very different aims, and the staple of conversation is widely unlike in its details. Sometimes it is facts,—ranging from those of daily necessity to the last results of science,—and sometimes it is degrees of importance; sometimes it is love, and makes the balm of our early and our latest days; sometimes it is thought, as from a person who is a mind only; sometimes a singing, as if the heart poured out all like a bird; sometimes experience.—Emerson.

Since "complete life" is a mental, moral and spiritual state, of which the body is but an incident, we must study how to adjust both our work and our rest so as to secure a minimum of hindrance and a maximum of help. We must eliminate from the work the elements of hurry, worry and drudgery, and we shall find that all of these are merely states of mind. Perhaps most of us could safely and happily do more work of all kinds than we now dare attempt if our inward life were better ordered. If faith, hope and love had more power over us, and if we accepted truth and goodness and beauty as our daily bread.—Rev. Charles G. Ames.

Every farm should have a tool house. Lots of money is lost by allowing the farming implements to lie about in the rain and sun.
